Abstract

We write abstract for your PhD dissertation which would approximately contain 250 to 350 words. We complete the abstract after the full dissertation has been written that includes a brief summary of introduction or background, objectives, boundaries, methodology, the results of the dissertation research, main conclusion that you arrive, and recommendations

Acknowledgement

A brief statement that ensures the following – we ensure to comment about family and friends at a minimum level while more concentration will be given on those who have given direct assistance. Further, the section will also provide assurance that the dissertation is own, evidence at your findings, a declaration to show the work complies with University regulation on plagiarism and a statement of the word count. Apart, a copy of the report appended in Loss-leaf format showing that the dissertation is passed through plagiarism software

Table of Content

The section will list the chapter headings, appendices, references along with the page numbers. Apart, there would be a separate list for lists of figures, tables, and abbreviations. We use Microsoft Word to create lists using the indexing and style functions.

Full Dissertation Title

A precise Title as approved by the University. The title would convey the ideas of your investigation, orient your readers to the topic, indicate the type of study you will conduct, population you target and geographical location.

An Introduction to the Topic

A Brief description of the topic, research questions, and research objectives. The section would provide necessary background information and provides readers with some sense of overall research including general territory, broad foundation (existing literature), the general scope, overview of the sections and finally should engage the readers

Aim and Overall Objective / Hypotheses

A description what research want to achieve from carrying out this research. The section includes a clear statement of the research objectives, questions that researcher seeks to answer or the hypothesis. The section also includes original contributions of your study, with a detailed account of the points summarized in the introduction, and rationale.

Literature, Context, background

This should provide some insights on (a) studies that have been conducted previously in your research field (b) familiarity with major themes, (c) the range of theories scholars use to analyse their primary sources (d) gaps identified in the literature (e) further investigations you intend to pursue as part of this dissertation and (f) best methodologies.

The detailed research methodology

The section is essential to the good dissertation. This section includes the overall methodological approach, Research design, strategy, qualitative or quantitative, research philosophy, target area, population, sample size, primary or secondary data collection, ethical consideration, pilot study, validity, reliability, & statistical analysis.
