A PhD Rework Dissertation UK Features

Our UK resit dissertation structure followed at Tutors India Reviewing the Feedback

We review the feedback thoroughly given by the supervisor or the review committee. Our writers at Tutors India ensure to pay attention to each and every comment and ensure that we work on the specific comment as raised by your supervisor. Before starting your work, our subject matter expertise will review the feedback and prepare the report that shows which can be addressed quickly without your help and other comments that may require your support to complete a resit dissertation.

■ Decision factor

Based on the analysis, we decide whether to carry out a complete rewiring or editing services. By analyzing, would help to predict the timeline of various expertise involved in a resit dissertation. The following are the factors considered while we undertake resit dissertation writing that includes, resubmission deadline, number of remarks, especially remarks in the research methodology and data collection chapters, style of writing, and supervisor tone

■ Rubric Scale, Line by Line & Chapter wise Scrutinization

In general university has the assessment criteria, where chapter I, an introduction part carries 10% weight, a literature review (Chapter II) has 20-40% weight, research methodology (Chapter III) or design carries

15-20 %, while 30% of results and interpretation (Chapter IV) and 10% for conclusion and discussion (Chapter V). Overall, 10% for presentation and referencing. We check out whether introduction clearly sets the background and statement of the problem both from industry specific and theoretical problem. Further aims and objectives will be scrutinized.

■ The relevance of Sources and critical approach

We check whether the reviews of relevant sources are organized in chronological order and logical sequence and ensure whether appropriate gaps are identified using latest references from peer reviewed articles? We check whether there is a sufficient literature to support your research objectives and research questions. Further, we also scrutinize for the justification of research methodology and whether you have rejected other methodologies by substantiating with relevant literature sources and choice of data collection, using critical approach

■ Analysis and Critical Interpretation

Whether statistical analyses are relevant to the objectives and research questions identified? We check each and every step, including analysis tools such as tools and techniques, whether applied correct tool for the identified objectives. For an instance, if the objective has a comparison between and within groups, whether an appropriate tool has been used to compare two groups? whether interpretation has any meaning with relevance to the research objective or is it only a statistical interpretation explaining significance or just ended up in explaining the tables? Finally, check how the entire chapter has been drafted with relevance to the research objectives.

■ Conclusive Coherence and New Knowledge

Whether conclusion is made with relevance to the research objective and research questions? Does researcher could able to shed new knowledge to the research?

Whether a critical analysis has been taken by comparing the objectives, literature review and results obtained in the present study. Will also check whether the results are in line with the previous studies or different? If different, is there any methodological difference between the studies or is there any relevancy to compare?

■ Organized references and Completely referenced

Whether references are well organized and according to the style posed by the Universities? The document is whether well referenced both using textbooks and journal articles. If not, we check and correct the citation style throughout the dissertation. Ensure to check whether the citation, referencing and formatting style is in line with the university requirement. If references are old, will update the reference with new ones carefully considering the context, meaning and author.
